What KIND OF BACON? Do people want T? That's what the Marketing Service of the Canada Department of Agriculture wants to know. Always in Toronto and Montreal they have no idea. The buyer there usually thinks of good bacon as lean bacon, their buyers sold.
 Don that hold for Edmonton? Shading a business here are members of the Department's Division of Agricultural Economics and in charge of the survey is Knud Engelsen. He also intends to find out if the buyer would pay the little more required to produce the kind of a local bacon.
 With the co-operation of a local seeking plant and a well known greaser plant, a top grade side bacon grade is offered. It's a special product containing at least 30 per cent fat and is on sale now in three Edmonton stores. It is fat packed in half-pound wrappers, marked Grade A Lean, and sells for slightly more than the advertised price.
 Weekly records of bacon sold were taken two weeks before this Grade A lean sale. It was then offered alongside other bacon with no advertising other than a small card announcing "Grade A Lean, locally produced by direct marketing for consumers." This continues for another two weeks, and was followed by a week-long demonstration during which the demonstrator circulated the name, address and telephone numbers of the buyers.
 As a result, some 1,400 questionnaires are being mailed which, when returned will provide a wealth of information about bacon preference. Whether or not the shopper comes back for more will be one of the best indications of the popularity of this bacon. Bares are continuing and records being kept. If sufficient demand is indicated this special Grade A Lean may eventually be offered as a regular item.

Here! New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska
 Here are the trucks that conquered the Alcan Highway—one of the world's most challenging roads! Six new "57 Chevrolet trucks, loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B.C., through 1,530 miles of mountains and mile, rate and hail—every conceivable natural roadblock—to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip—normally a 72-hour run—in less than 48 hours.
 Like a carefully unrolled ribbon, the Alcan Highway twists and turns for 1,530 miles. It tumbles over towering mountains of awesome beauty and wanders through desolate Yukon forests. A miracle of engineering—but a brutal challenge to trucks.
 It's the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel suddenly

Hay And Pasture Mixtures
 Available now in a leaf-4 on hay and pasture mixtures. It contains information on establishing a hay or pasture planting and gives factors worth considering when choosing seed for your crop. For instance, what legume and grasses are best suited to your soil? How thickly should these seeds be sown? The Hay and Pasture Mixture leaflet can be obtained upon request by the Alberta Forage Crops Advisory Committee.
 A copy of "Hay and Pasture Mixtures for Alberta" may be obtained by sending name and address to the Extension Service, Farmstead House, Edmonton.
 In the fourth month of 1956 ten bushels, the United States exported 100 million bushels, double the shipments made in the same period a year ago.

FIRST WITH THE GREATEST FEATURES!
 New 260-horsepower Task-Force 57 delivers 100 high-torque horsepower. Standard in Sales 1200 and 1700, optional in Series 1600 or extra cost. Horsepower ranges up to 230 in Chevrolet's complete line of medium V8 and 6 truck engines.
 Revolutionary Powermaster Fuel-injection fuel system, designed specifically for heavy-duty hauling, is an outstanding feature in Series 1600 through 1700 models. V8 fuel is injected in 1200, 1400 and 1700 Series models at extra cost.
 New 1957 truck-given great Chevrolet trucks on even today. Super experience. These are three different and distinctive trademarks.
 Proved on the Alcan Highway... Champs of every weight class!
 Alcan first reports up to 30 miles per gallon! That's right on official AAA fuel consumption figures for the Chevy Camper, boosted by the famous Task-Force 57 engine and equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost).
 As the way to DRIVE range with Powermaster! As a special test, the Powermaster-equipped 1957 Series truck traveling the length of the Alcan Highway, 1,530 miles, averaged 24.5 mpg through washouts—in a single forward-speed range!
 New Super Task-Force 57 Series Yukon mounted this 1957 1800 Series truck with its new 283-cu-in. V8 engine was rated for 24.5 mpg. It climbed steep grades with remarkable ease.

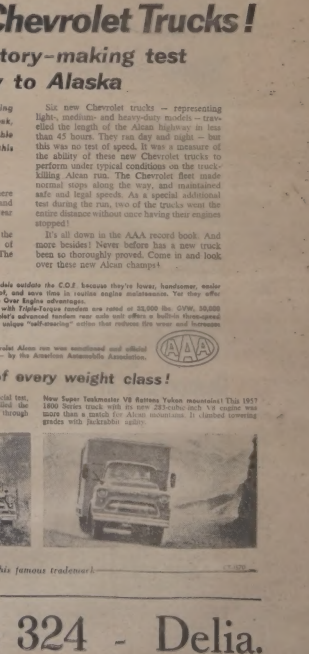

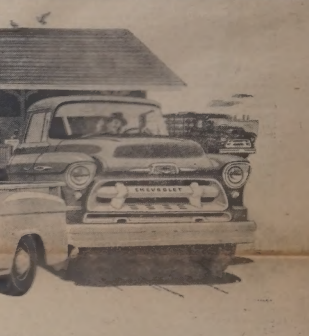

Six new Chevrolet trucks—representing light, medium and heavy-duty models—traveled the length of the Alcan Highway in less than 48 hours. They ran day and night—but this was no test of speed. It was a measure of the ability of these new Chevrolet trucks to perform under typical conditions on the truck-killing Alcan road. The Chevrolet fleet made normal stops along the way, and maintained safe and legal speeds. As a special additional feat during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without ever having their engines stopped!
 It's all down in the AAA record book. And more besides! Never before has a new truck been so thoroughly proved. Come in and look over these new Alcan champs!

Only franchised Chevrolet dealers ALWAYS display this famous trademark!

Following the extremely cold weather of last week, with sub-zero temperatures, a strong thawing wind from the east over-night Sunday sent the mercury soaring, that melted the snow and caused large pools of water to form in some places. By Monday the wind had changed to the north and freezing temperatures sent the mercury down to around zero. At present writing (Tuesday), springlike weather prevails; the snow is melting rapidly and streets are becoming a mass of mud, with water everywhere.

Population Growth & Demand For Agricultural Products

An indication of the progressively important effect that Canada's growing population will have upon the future demand for agricultural products is to be found in the latest official figures relating to population growth.

In 1955 the natural increase in Canada's population was 314,000 persons, and to this must be added about 110,000 additional people who entered Canada as immigrants. The natural increase is the highest number to be added in over one year in history, and it is the sixth highest rate of natural increase in the world. It was achieved through the maintenance of a low mortality rate, Canada being the fourth lowest death rate among the major countries despite an aging population. Assuming the rate of increase, Canada's population should easily pass the 21 million mark by 1970 and, with any increase of immigration into Canada, it may be well above that level in 19 years' time.

Although the per capita consumption of food has actually decreased over the years, the total domestic consumption, of course, may be expected to increase as the population grows. Consumption of dairy and poultry products, meats and other foodstuffs, however, is expected to increase, and it is in this direction that the greatest demand will be made upon agricultural production in Canada.

Interesting as the Canadian situation is, that of the United States is even more so. Here, population growth is expected to be quite rapid. Economic overpopulation is expected to be reached by the year 2000, and the population of some 250 million by 1975, and point out that to take care of the larger population an increase of one-third in the production of agricultural commodities would be required. Cattle output might have to rise by as much as 50 per cent, and that of hogs by 40 per cent, while feed requirements for livestock would likely demand an increase of some 25 per cent. All this may have some bearing upon the future demand from that country for Canadian grains and other agricultural products.

"Yes," Worry of the U.A.W. as The Shield makes clear, relies on sympathy and indifference of most union members towards union affairs. This is not surprising, particularly when it is remembered that most rank-and-file union members are given little voice in handling of union affairs, and at some time are forced to meet levies, dues, fines and assessments of various kinds to maintain union officials in style to which latter have become accustomed.

HIGH COST OF UNION MEMBERSHIP

Rank-and-file revolt against high union dues is spreading in U.S.

First group to protest higher union dues is S.E. workers' union. Now comes word that Machine's union, by vote of its membership, has turned down a convention proposal calling for doubling of dues payments.

International Typographical union has also voted two proposals of its officers—one for increase in dues payments to international headquarters and another for further assessments for a defense fund.

Revolt against high cost of union membership is growing cause of complaint throughout entire trade union movement.

Rank-and-file vote of increased assessments proposed by union bosses is one of few ways open to workers to register their disapproval of arbitrary manner in which labor officials handle their affairs.
